SITE DESIGN FOR MULTIFAMILY HOUSING: CREATING LIVABLE, CONNECTED NEIGHBORHOODS

Island Press. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Site design for multifamily housing: Creating Livable, Connected Neighborhoods, Nico Larco, Kristin Kelsey, Amanda Stocker West, The United States is over eighty percent urbanised, yet over half of the population still lives in suburban settings, characterised by low-density, automobile-dependent development with separated land uses. These disconnected and isolated models of development have been linked to increased greenhouse-gas emissions and reduced quality of life, health, and social connections. In Site Design for Multifamily...
